To Whom It May Concern:

I was quite saddened to hear of the possibility of RAIN closing its doors. For years I have been an active supporter of the organization. We have had speakers come to my church and give testimonials of how the program has helped them get on their feet. It is always such a moving experience. I have also referred a couple of pro-bono clients from my practice to this organization. Some of my friends have served on the Board, and they keep me posted on the different types of activities and services that are being offered to the community. I am not familiar with any other program that addresses the needs of people on the verge of homelessness in as much depth as RAIN. With the problem of homeless on the rise in CA, this hardly seems like the time to pull the plug on an institution that prevents others from becoming part of that statistic. I sincerely hope you would reconsider this devastating plan.

Sincerely,
