Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am deeply concerned as a long time citizen of Ventura County with the precipitous action that is being proposed be taken today by the Board to rob property owners of vested rights under existing permits and with broad adoption of unanalyzed policies as part of the General Plan process that could cripple the economic vitality of the County. I believe these steps are legally questionable and probably legally unsupportable so they expose the County to significant legal expense to defend actions that violate due process and vested property rights. This is alarming and disappointing. I urge the Board to step back from this precipice and look carefully, after significant public vetting and discussion, before it adopts such destructive actions.
