Subject: Conditional Use Permits for oil

This is the year 2020. Previously issued Conditional Use Permits are from a different era. They are outdated. Oil has had its day and many of us have benefited from its use. A number of us are dead from the toxic elements of our history of fossil fuel use. Therefore, all new drilling and expanded extraction should require a new permit and full compliance with current health, safety and environmental standards. Thank you for helping to make that happen today.
