Subject: READ IN MEETING - Oil & Gas Permitting

Permits were given to gas and oil companies before we understood the devastating environmental impact of the activities they allowed. On top of that, oil and gas companies have left abandoned wells that continue to leak toxic pollutants into our environment.

Any new oil and gas permits must call on the recipients to clean up all existing operations and bring them into compliance with new modern regulations before allowing any new operations to begin. Oil and gas companies should be held to a higher standard than most given the disastrous consequences of accidents and abuse in that industry.

Sincerely,

David Nation
